This morning you will enjoy cycling trip in the surrounding villages near Prambanan then continued to visit the Prambanan temple complex.

SIGHTS & PLACES THAT YOU WILL SEE:

Prambanan

Near the royal city of Yogyakarta, the temple gardens of Prambanan were once dedicated to kings who considered themselves as Gods. The centrally located Shiva temple overlooks a series of smaller shrines, spread out an open-air museum of Hindu-Javanese antiquities. This marvelous temple garden features prime examples of powerful Buddhist and Hindu kingdoms, who ruled much of Sumatra and Java in the 7th and 8th century AD.

Cycling in Prambanan Complex

Away from the busy traffic and the pollution of the city you discover authentic traditional Javanese life.

Cycling through small villages nearby Prambanan passing Lumbung, Bubrah, and Sewu Temples while enjoying the panorama of seasonal local plantations including the rice fields, tobacco, sugar cane, mais, tomato, cassavas, chili, egg plants and many others. In the villages you pass through, daily life goes on, a stop will be made at a local house to meet the people and you may try out the local harvest. If time permit, visit local home industry of "Pabrik Tahu" Tofu Making Process to see the production is being proceed. A chance to get to know things beyond the tourist attractions!

Meals

- Breakfast at Hotel

This morning you will enjoy Jogjakarta city tour by visiting the Sultan Palace or Keraton, Taman Sari water castle and bird market. Then Kota Gede with its silversmith. You will have also chance to ride on a becak (pedicab) during city tour. Afterwards drive further to Magelang and visit Borobudur Temple.

SIGHTS & PLACES THAT YOU WILL SEE:

Yogyakarta City Tour (Kraton, Taman Sari, Kota Gede)

Explore the typical sights and sounds of Yogyakarta. The city calls itself the vanguard of Javanese culture. The venerable Sultan`s palace is the centerpiece. Located tight in the center of town, it is treated with respect by the people of Yogya. Surrounded by white-clad houses and quiet lanes, there is hardly any traffic in this part of town, where becaks rule ! Taman Sari as it is called by the locals, is the former pleasure dome of the Sultans. It features well restored subterranean passage ways, secret chambers and frivolous ponds. In Kota Gede, the streets are lined with silver factories, ranging from modest family enterprises to real superstores. What they have in common though, are skilled hands of mostly older men, producing wonderful home ware and exquisite jewelry. These days the fine art of batik is produced at the family compounds in villages surrounding the city. There are very few galleries left in town where the canting and cap are still handled with great care.

Borobudur , Pawon and Mendut

Borobudur temple, a well-known Buddhist landmark, lies a leisurely drive of one hour out of Yogyakarta. It is one of the biggest and most impressive monuments ever erected by mankind, unobtrusively blending in with the splendid background of Menoreh mountain range. The terraced temple tells the times and lives of the Lord Buddha in well over 1.500 expressive reliefs. While climbing to the top, the faithful pilgrim received a full-length set of Buddhist teachings. Thus one can say the Borobudur is a prayer in stone ! The renovation, finished in the early eighties of last century, sublimely reflects the will of man to preserve the past. Once enshrined by a wild jungle, it took more than ten years and great effort to renovate the monument. This gargantuan task got finished late last century. Now it belongs to one of the finest examples of Buddhist architecture. Originally Borobudur was part of a chain of four temples joined by a sacred path. Two of the other three temples have been restored and at those are well worth visiting. The third one is unfortunately beyond repair. Built in 800 AD, Mendut was rediscovered in 1834 and restored at the end of the nineteenth century as well. The exterior, while heavily decorated, is unremarkable. The three giant statues sitting inside, however, are exquisitely carved and marvelously preserved. Originally there were seven statues here; those that remain are the great three-meter Buddha, who, unusually, sits on a throne with his legs in front of him rather than in the lotus position, flanked by the Bodhisattvas Avalokitesvara and Vajrapani. One kilometre west of Mendut, on the banks of the river is Candi Pawon. This small building is dedicated to the Buddhist god of fortune, Kuvera. Unlike both Mendut and Borobudur, the temple does not have Hindu foundations but is wholly Buddhist.

There we start a moderate hike, which will take you in a few hours up to the peak of Mt. Ijen. On the way, you will meet the sulfur people, those tough locals who carry 60 kg baskets, filled with the "yellow gold". The sulfur mining is done at the base of crater lake, way up. Once you arrive there, the views are truly stunning. Whatever direction you turn, mountain tops peak aloft the clouds. Down at the jade colored lake, steam from deep down below is transformed into yellow crystals...

After trekking transfer to Ketapang harbor, in Ketapang we cross the small Java Strait by ferry and reach Bali. From Gilimanuk we will drive to your hotel at Pemuteran. Check in at your hotel and at leisure.

SIGHTS & PLACES THAT YOU WILL SEE:

Ijen Mt

Ijen is a fascinating mountain in East Java, very near to the Strait of Bali. It takes a 4wd jeep drive from the nearest hotel to the base camp from where you can hike all the way to to the summit. It is an easy trail and path to follow and on the way you meet the sulfur people. These tough locals carry 80kg baskets, filled with "yellow gold", the result of a mining process on the top of the mountain near a formidable crater lake. Up on the rim of this mighty extinct volcano, the views are truly stunning. Whatever direction you turn, mountain tops peak aloft the clouds. Down at the jade colored lake, steam from deep down inside the earth is transformed into yellow crystals upon contact with the atmosphere.

Day 10, Thu Jun 15 Pemuteran - Ubud (B) 2017
Accommodation Puri Lumbung Cottages Standard Cottage + ABF	Meals - Breakfast at Hotel

Morning free at leisure and noon time transfer to Munduk via Buddhist Monastery and Hot spring in Banjar.

SIGHTS & PLACES THAT YOU WILL SEE:

Buddhist Monastery - Banjar

In the 6th century Buddhist monks landed and settled in the North of Bali. In general, the Hindu religion of Bali has a lot of Buddhist influence. The Buddhist monastery of Banjar is one of the more tranquil ones and comes complete with a lotus pool and sculptures. It was hit badly by an earthquake in the seventies but resident monks rebuilt it subsequently. Although visitors are welcome, they are required to keep noise to a minimum. This place is more than just a tourist attraction as it is still a place of worship. The views on the hills surrounding Lovina are extraordinary. The terraced complex has a few praying rooms with golden Buddha's. On the highest level of the complex you find a stupa, almost like a small version of the Borobudur in Java.

Banjar Hot Spring

The hot springs from Banjar, are a pleasant one kilometer hike away from the main road. It is widely believed its water can heal diseases. But it is the natural beauty of the environment, that make it a well worth trip.

Day 11, Fri Jun 16 2017		Munduk - Tamblingan trekking (B)
Accommodation Puri Lumbung Cottages Standard Cottage + ABF	Meals - Breakfast at Hotel

In the morning you'll spend a lovely day in the country side of north Bali. Visit the lakes of central Bali in an unusual way. We have programmed a diverse hike, leading to some unusual locations. Visit Munduk waterfall before return to your hotel and rest of the day free at leisure.

SIGHTS & PLACES THAT YOU WILL SEE:

Lake Tamblingan Trekking

Situated at about 1.200 meters above sea level, with mighty Mount Catur rising from its eastern shore, the climate in Lake Tamblingan is pleasantly cool all year round. Noteworthy is the Pura Ulun Danu, place of worship for the Goddess of the lake as the source of water for Bali. Combining typical Hindu and Buddhist temple architecture, it is one of the most photographed temples of Bali. Moreover, it acquired the status of a kayangan jagat or directional temple, meaning it is revered by all Balinese across the island. Along wide highlands and strawberry farms, the road lead even further up into the mountains. After soaking up the spectacular view of the twin lakes of Buyan and Tamblingan, start your trek descending into the rain forest and learn how many of the local tropical plants have a medicinal use. On an open site in the forest sits almost unexpected the eerie Pura Dalem Tambingan which is dedicated the deceased ancestors. Continue downwards until you reach Pura Ulun Danu Tamblingan, dedicated to the Goddess of Lake Tamblingan. From this point, the view to the lake with the surrounding lush rain forest is inspiring. A short boat ride on a traditional wooden canoe brings you to the other lake shore. Very few people venture out into this direction. During your trip it is so quiet you can hear the birds singing. Foreste slopes seal off this area from the rest of the world. On last leg of the trip, stroll along Pura Gubug, a masterly designed Hindu temple. Merus with an uneven number of pagoda roofs, rise from behind the temple`s twin gate entrance. This is a unique and quite rarely visited holy place!

Munduk Village

Not far away from Lovina, a sleepy village nestles high up in the mountain range dividing Bali. Munduk is the perfect spot to make short, pleasant hikes and take in the beauty of North Bali. A stroll past forests, idyllic ricefields, lush waterfall and blooming is quite pleasant at an altitude of some 1.000m. No wonder, the community of Munduk actively supports projects emphasizes environmental preservation. On this track, you will enjoy stunning views.

Day 12, Sat Jun 17 2017 Munduk - Ubud (B)

Accommodation

Artini Cottages 3
Deluxe + BFS

Meals

- Breakfast at Hotel

After breakfast depart to Ubud. Visit enroute : Ulun Danu temple in Bedugul, Jatiluwih riceterrace, Taman Ayun temple in Mengwi.

SIGHTS & PLACES THAT YOU WILL SEE:

Ulun Danu Bratan Temple

Ulun Danu sits at the shores of Lake Bratan, the source of water for a large part of the island. It effortlessly combines Hindu and Buddhist elements into a unique sample of Balinese temple architecture. The location on the shore of the giant lake effectively filling a crater formed thousands of years ago by a seismic blast of an extinct volcano, is significant. The lake supplies most of the drinkable water to large areas of Bali. Dense pine forests tumble down the slopes of Mount Bratan to the calm shoreline dotted with holy shrines.

Jatiluwih

A startlingly beautiful area of verdant, terraced rice paddies nestled in the shadow of Mount Batukaru, the second highest peak of Bali and one of the holiest. In 2007 this area was nominated as a UNESCO world heritage site.

Taman Ayun Temple

Located in Mengwi, the 17th century royal temple sheds a magnificent light on the principles of traditional Balinese temple architecture. Very few other temples were constructed along such `ideal` lines. Three terraces blend harmoniously into one another, each of them representing different worlds, dedicated to the Negative and Positive Forces in the universe and the relationship between both. Candi bentars, the typical Balinese split temple gates, separate them from one another. The complex is surrounded by a beautiful pond, adding to the elegance of the place. The last and highest court, dedicated to the Gods, is only accessible for Hindus, but by walking around, you have an excellent view on the meru's with their uneven roofs, a quintessential element of Balinese architecture.

SIGHTS & PLACES THAT YOU WILL SEE:

White Water Rafting

In the vicinity of Ubud, you have a chance to do an exciting but safe river rafting. During this excursion you will experience Bali from another side, literally. After being introduced to the secrets of river rafting and under the experienced guidance of a Balinese `captain`, you will then float down a river through some of the most spectacular landscapes of the island. Once in a while, you will have a close encounter with a lonely farmer or see how beautiful and meticulously offerings were placed on small shrines, honoring the omnipresent Goddess of the Rice and the Spirits of the Water. The descent on the river is a pleasant and different way to look at typical Balinese landscapes. It is at times exhilarating fun too.

Morning depart to Amed. First visit Tirtagangga water palace and hike in Tenganan. Proceed to your hotel in Amed.

SIGHTS & PLACES THAT YOU WILL SEE:

Tirta Gangga Water Palace

Located at Ababi village, Abang distric, East Bali, Tirtagangga lies less than 100km from the capital city Denpasar. This water garden was built in 1948 by the King of Karangasem, Anak Agung Anglurah Ketut Karangasem, blending Balinese and Chinese styles. In the late forties of the last century, this was a playful weekend retreat for one of the last raja`s of Bali. There are enough water basins, fountains and bizarre statues to charm you, while the surroundings are pretty and quiet. The water comes from one of the nearby natural springs. The place has always been regarded as holy. Tirta means blessed water, gangga comes from Ganges, the holy river in India. The holy water is required for ceremonies of the temples in the surrounding as far as Tirtagangga. The springs have a huge output of pure water. The water is first led to a reservoir where it is divided in two parts. One third provides drinking water for the town Amlapura. The remainder goes into the upper swimming pool through an underground pipe. The overflow of water goes into the lower swimming pool, the other ponds and finally into the rice fields.

Tenganan hike

This morning we will take you a village high in the mountains and start a descent through beautifully landscaped rice terraces and rarely visited villages. The path leads towards Tenganan, home of the original inhabitants of Bali. All the way down, there is an inviting sight of the deep blue Indian Ocean right in front of you. After an inspiring hike, you reach Tenganan, one of several ancient villages in Bali, which people who call themselves `Bali Aga`. A high wall surrounding their village, adds to the self-chosen isolation of this community, adhering to strict principles. This place is world famous for its ikat. These textiles, the result of a very complicated form of weaving. While ikat may be common in East Indonesia, it was raised to perfection in Tenganan. Lombok, Sumba and Flores have similar products, but the intricate cloth of Tenganan is attributed with mystical powers. The Bali Aga are convinced that old gringsing will protect its owner from disease.
